

The book was found

Biscotti: Recipes From The Kitchen Of The American Academy In Rome, Rome Sustainable Food Project

Synopsis

The Rome Sustainable Food Project, a program devoted to providing organic, local, and sustainable meals for the community of the American Academy in Rome, has launched a delicious revolution to rethink institutional dining. Headed by chef Mona Talbott, a Chez Panisse alum, and guided by Alice Waters, the menus have given rise to a new, authentic cuisine inspired by la cucina romana, Chez Panisse, and the collective experience of those working in the AAR kitchen. Biscotti is the first book in the series. Each volume, covering a single subject, contains authentic, simple recipes for favorite dishes served at the academy's communal table, narrated with carefully explained techniques and methods—suitable for both the home cook and the institutional kitchen. Our first bite into this book project is a sweet one, focusing on fifty biscotti and dolcetti (cookies and sweets). Subsequent volumes in the series will include muffins and scones; pasta, long and short; vegetables; preserves; and more.

Book Information

Series: Rome Sustainable Food Project

Hardcover: 140 pages

Publisher: Little Bookroom; Main edition (October 12, 2010)

Language: English

ISBN-10: 1892145898

ISBN-13: 978-1892145895

Product Dimensions: 5.9 x 0.6 x 7.3 inches

Shipping Weight: 12.8 ounces (View shipping rates and policies)

Average Customer Review: 3.9 out of 5 stars 29 customer reviews

Best Sellers Rank: #307,771 in Books (See Top 100 in Books) #92 in Books > Cookbooks, Food & Wine > Baking > Cookies #294 in Books > Cookbooks, Food & Wine > Italian Cooking #833 in Books > Cookbooks, Food & Wine > Desserts

Customer Reviews

Of all Italian sweets, biscotti are among the best known and most reproduced. Although biscotti signify all sorts of cookies, the word most often conjures up in the American mind those twice-baked, ultracrunchy, nut-studded slices of dough perfect for dipping into a steaming cup of espresso. The American Academy in Rome has inaugurated a Sustainable Food Project that seeks to produce good food that only minimally diminishes the health of the environment. These biscotti recipes have all been developed by the academy's staff and are served daily at tea and at dessert. The cookies come in a grand variety of shapes and sizes and feature nonstandard flours, such as those from farro, an antique grain. American cooks will instantly recognize the walnut jam biscotti as clones of perennial-favorite thumbprint cookies. Even the Italians have developed a fondness for peanut-butter cookies and all-American snickerdoodles. --Mark Knoblauch

"...small but comprehensive, comprising 50 mostly traditional recipes for the treats best loved by the Academy's friends, students and workers (the authors are both employed there). Start with almond-cornmeal and work you way through to chocolate-hazelnut." —Charlotte Druckman, Wall Street Journal Weekend "This book has recipes for all those cookies you tasted if you've ever been to Italy or lived there and thought you'd never find again, she says." —FoxNews.com "As you'd expect from a book with a foreword by Alice Waters, its recipes are sustainable yet delicious — 50 types of Italian cookies from pine nut and rosemary to honey and cardamom." —The Observer, The 25 Best Cookbooks of 2010 "Proof that not all biscotti are sweet, super-crunchy half-moons. The bite-sized biscotti here range from dry and lightly sweet — the kind of cookie you'll want to soften with a dip into a caffè latte or a sweet Italian wine like vin santo — to highly sweetened varieties that don't need any liquid pairing." —American Airlines, AA.com "Dieters, beware: "Biscotti:" a smart little cookbook from the Little Bookroom, is Mephistopheles in cookie form." With a forward by Alice Waters, this book is the first of a series of small hardbacks devoted to a single subject that will provide a glimpse into the American Academy in Rome. —Pittsburgh Tribune "Biscotti — Recipes from the kitchen of the American Academy in Rome offers a remarkable selection of cookies. The recipes can be made for greater numbers by scaling up the quantities, which makes it an interesting book for those with a crowd to feed and little time. Tastefully executed, this volume would be a well-received gift for any baker, be they novice or passionate expert." —Mostly Food "What can be better than a cup of coffee and a biscotti in the morning? That is the premise behind this lovely and mouthwatering book. Author Mona Talbott is the executive chef of the Rome Sustainable Food Project, which was established to create eco-gastronomic, authentic cuisine for the American Academy in Rome, where American cooks create biscotti, a mainstay of Italian sweets." —June Sawyer, The Chicago Tribune "Biscotti: Recipes from the Kitchen of The American Academy in Rome is a really charming book and filled with some familiar but mostly unfamiliar recipes." —I could easily see working my through this book, cookie by cookie! —Amy Sherman, The Epi-Log on Epicurious "Just in time for Thanksgiving is Mona Talbott's cookbook, Biscotti: Recipes from the Kitchen of the American University in Rome. The protege of Alice Waters consulted on the menus for Secretary of State Hillary Clinton's Chappaqua residence and worked as a private chef for Annie Leibowitz."

 "For the past four years, Canadian chef Mona Talbott of the American Academy in Rome and author of the new cookie bible Biscotti has transformed the institution's dinner table into a model for sustainable dining."
 "This charmer carefully explains techniques and a little history behind the traditional Italian bite-sized cookies served at the Academy's communal table. A treat to try: biscotti al pistachio."
 •Coastal Living

Let me begin by stating that I am not a novice baker. This is an adorable looking little book. I wanted to love it. I have been a fan of Alice Waters for many years and I love the Little Bookroom format. The photographs are lovely, the paper is very nice quality. The issue of it being titled "Biscotti" has been addressed by so many people that I will not weigh in on it. To begin, many of the ingredients within the recipes are not pantry items for most Biscotti /cookie bakers in the U.S. (In addition, several of the recipes call for bitter almonds which the recipes acknowledge are not available in the States. It is suggested that apricot or peach kernels be substituted for the bitter almonds. It is my understanding that peach kernels are poisonous since they also contain cyanide. I may be incorrect about that. Anyway, I could not find them. Organic apricot kernels are available from sweetbay.com for about $15.98 for 1 lb.) I have baked my way through only five (5) of the recipes within the book. The Cantucci di Prato and the Tozzetti Alle Nocciole were delicious and very "pure" tasting. I did need to adjust cooking temperature and cooking time (which the book does caution may be necessary) and I did not permit the logs to cool completely before slicing. (Too many crumbed logs under my belt to follow that advice.) The dough for Biscotti Regina, when made as directed, would not hold together for me. I was able to save the dough by adding a small splash of ice water but I feel this or some other ingredient/instruction should have been included within the recipe for this contingency. I went over the ingredients and instructions innumerable times. It certainly could have been something I did incorrectly but this really is not a complex recipe and it should have come together easily. The coup came with the Biscotti di Miele. This recipe, for me, was totally unworkable.. The recipe cautions that you may need to "knead in" the last cup of flour by hand. With two and one half cups of flour remaining to be added, the dough was so stiff that I was afraid I would break my mixer (one of those older indestructible K5A Kitchenaid mixers). I switched to the dough hook. That permitted me to incorporate an additional half cup of flour. I drafted my husband to attempt to knead in the remaining flour. The dough was far to stiff for any additional flour to be added. Once again I reviewed the ingredients and instructions and to the best of my knowledge I did not leave out/add anything not required and I followed the directions. (I should have known better when I saw the texture of the honey with the sugar dissolved in it but I assumed the authors knew better than I did.) I began re-reading some of the recipes which I had not made. Several of them seemed as though they would yield very stiff (perhaps unworkable) dough. At this juncture, most probably, I will not use these recipes again. I will look forward to someone telling me that they have had good luck with particular recipes. As it is I find this to be a delightfully written book but one which should not be utilized as a recipe book for biscotti. Regretfully, I am giving it two stars but I would have liked to give it 2 1/2. (I have not discussed the Cantucci Di Noci E Cannella. The recipe worked.). I am of the opinion that more time should have been spent in ÃƒÂ¢Ã  ¬Ã  “testingÃƒÂ¢Ã  ¬Ã  • these recipes for the non-professional kitchen. It really is a very frustrating experience to waste time and ingredients (expensive ones).

As for the negative review because the book contains no "biscotti" recipes, the reviewer is correct. This book has no "biscotti" or what we Americans have come to know as biscotti recipes. Just as Italian grandmothers tend to refer to all long, strand pasta as spaghetti, this book refers to crisp cookies as biscotti. If you are looking for a lovely book to add to your collection, please consider this one. The pictures are charming and the recipe selection is perfect - a little bit of everything. There are no ooey-gooey chocolate brownie type sweets, but the kind of cookies you can mail, share and keep in a cookie jar to enjoy days later with tea or coffee. If you like walnuts, pistachios or pine nuts, this book is for you. I LOVE it.

The whole series of cookbooks from the Rome Sustainable Food Project is excellent! Wishing to be there.

Great recipes, charming background stories. Hard to obtain some items (farro flour) and lacking photos of many finished cookies.

Wonderful recipes, from basic to slightly complicated. If you like Italian cookies, I highly recommend this book!

Delicious recipes. I'd buy any cookbook from the American Academy in Rome series and I can't wait for the next installment!

Quite frankly I thought that this book would be about what Americans call Biscotti not cookies. However, it is full of authentic Italian cookie recipes, great photos and stories.

Recipes are not written for my type of baking. Much too complicated.

Download to continue reading...

Biscotti: Recipes from the Kitchen of the American Academy in Rome, Rome Sustainable Food Project Pasta: Recipes from the Kitchen of the American Academy in Rome, Rome Sustainable Food Project Rome : The best Rome Travel Guide The Best Travel Tips About Where to Go and What to See in Rome,Italy: (Rome tour guide, Rome travel ...Travel to Italy, Travel to Rome) Project Management: Secrets Successful Project Managers Already Know About: A Beginner's Guide to Project Management, nailing the interview, and essential skills to manage a project like a Pro VIETNAMESE VEGETARIAN FOOD - OUR FAMILY VEGETARIAN RECIPES: VEGETARIAN FOOD RECIPES FROM OUR VIETNAMESE HOME - VEGETARIAN FOOD RECIPES VEGAN RECIPES ASIAN ... RECIPES ASIAN VEGAN SERIES Book 1) Food Truck Business: How To Start Your Own Food Truck While Growing & Succeeding As Your Own Boss (Food Truck, Food Truck Business, Passive Income, Food ... Truck Startup, Food Truck Business Plan,) Babushka: Russian Recipes from a Real Russian Grandma: Real Russian Food & Ukrainian Food (Russian food, Russian recipes, Ukrainian food, Polish recipes) Whole Food: The 30 day Whole Food Ultimate Cookbook 100recipes (Whole Food Diet, Whole Food Cookbook,Whole Food Recipes, Clean Eating, Paleo, Ketogenic) Southern Cooking: for beginners - Simple Southern Food Recipes - Old South Recipes (Southern Food - Southern Meals - Southern Recipes - Soul Food - American Cuisine Book 1) The Domestic Animal/Wildlife Interface: Issues for Disease Control, Conservation, Sustainable Food Production, and Emerging Diseases (Annals of the New York Academy of Sciences) Indonesian Cookbook: 20 Indonesian Kitchen Recipes (Indonesian Cuisine, Indonesian Food, Indonesian Cooking, Indonesian Meals, Indonesian Kitchen, Indonesian Recipes) Raw Food Diet: 50+ Raw Food Recipes Inside This Raw Food Cookbook. Raw Food Diet For Beginners In This Step By Step Guide To Successfully Transitioning ... Vegan Cookbook, Vegan Diet, Vegan Recipes) Agile Project Management: QuickStart Guide - The Simplified Beginners Guide To Agile Project Management (Agile Project Management, Agile Software Development, Agile Development, Scrum) Urban Homesteading: Become a Self Sustainable Urban Homesteader to Get off the Grid,

Grow Food, and Free Yourself (Urban Homesteading: A Complete Guide ... a Self Sustainable Urban Homesteader) Gotham Academy Vol. 1: Welcome to Gotham Academy (The New 52) Jello Shot Recipes: 55 Fun & Creative Jello Shot Recipes for your Party (Jello Shots, Jelly Shots, Party Recipes, Jungle Juice, Punch Recipes, Vodka Recipes, ... Rum Recipes, Cocktail Recipes, Wine Making) Rome in 3 Days (Travel Guide 2017): A 72 Hours Perfect Plan with the Best Things to Do in Rome, Italy: Where to Stay, Eat, Go out, Shop. What to See. How to Save Time and Money While in Rome, Italy. Rome 2017: A Travel Guide to the Top 20 Things to Do in Rome, Italy: Best of Rome Let's Go: The Budget Guide to Rome, 1993/Including Vatican City, Ancient Rome, and Day Trips to Tivoli, Ostia Antica, Cerveteri, Pontine Islands, or (Let's Go: Rome) Rome: The Complete Guide with Walking Tours of Classical Rome and the Vatican (Fodor's Rome, 1999)

Contact Us

DMCA

Privacy

FAQ & Help