Customer Reviews

I have used these "Maps, Charts, Graphs" books to homeschool my children for 4 years now, and I love them! They are an excellent way of teaching map and graph skills to elementary students. I have used level A for kindergarten and first graders, and it has worked well for both. The lessons are clear and easy to understand, but the material is not overly simplistic.

Simple, straightforward, and most of all, enjoyable! I got this for my first grade daughter after realizing that she had not learned anything about reading maps in school this year. I thought we would work through it all summer, but she enjoyed it so much that we were through it in a week! I will definitely get the next books in this series!

great introductory to maps, cardinal directions, and looking thing a little differently. great for k-1.

second one that i've bought and used in my homeschooling.. will probably buy two more in the future as i've got two more kids coming up on this age.

This is a good foundational book for young children. Each lesson is brief and to the point. It has clear directions and good illustrations that my younger children are able to follow.

We purchased this product as part of our homeschooling curriculum. Our first grader is enjoying the activities and learning geography, map reading, following directions and thinking skills at the same time!

This is a great series of workbooks. It is easily understood and progresses through the information in a very user friendly way. My eight year old daughter enjoys them.

My daughter really liked this book- clear directions and easy to understand lessons.

Kind of easy. My child didn't find this book challenging at all.
