Car Talk: 25 Years Of Lousy Car Advice

Synopsis

In 1987, Tom and Ray Magliozzi, also known as Click and Clack, the Tappet Brothers, made the leap from nursing the motley car population of New England to creating the nationally beloved public radio phenomenon that we all know as Car Talk. The advice may be a little suspect, and the memories in desperate need of a tune-up, but the laughs are genuine as Click and Clack look back on an illustrious-if not industrious-25 years of delighting NPR audiences with their wit, wisdom, and occasionally relevant musings on the maintenance of cars. Lovingly compiled by the long-suffering lackeys at Car Talk Plaza, this collection represents the most memorable, most hilarious moments from the show's vast archives.

Even if you aren't a car person (and I am not! Know nothing about them!), you will love Car Talk. The Tappet brothers are so funny as they respond to calls about cars which always lead to hilarious conversations about relationships and life in general. This is an excellent program! It is smart, warm and so funny! No wonder it was on NPR for so many years! You will laugh out loud!

My husband and I love to listen to these guys when we go on road trips, they are so funny. This was really good. We're sorry Tommy is gone, but hope they will take previous shows and put them on CD to listen to.

Great for listening to on the commute to work!

Bought for a family member but have listened to these guys for years. Hilarious, sometimes edgy, but always educational for a do it yourselfer car mechanic.

Thank you for these wonderful CD's! With their knowledge and humour the tappet brother's have helped me so much and I'm very grateful:)

the best husband gift ever

How can you love these guys? My family love listening to their words of wisdom and funny comments.
