This was posted as a "new" book. It was not. It even had a signature on the inside flap.

I loved to see what Tucson looked backed than, there was hardly any vegetative growth whatsoever, that's why so many people moved here if they had allergies. Unfortunately it is worst now than anywhere else. Allergies are a big problem here because of all the growth. But it was cool to see the streets like Speedway (major thorough fare) still is with a dirt road. Nothing much east of what is mid town now. It is incredible how much it has grown. I've lived here since 1971. It's unbelievable how hard it is to get around town.

This book is a classic in my home. My father worked with Mr. Gene Magee in the electrical field, and Mr. Magee was also a local photographer who chronicled Tucson history through his pictures. This book really shows the progression of Tucson's growth from the '30s and 40's and into the '90s. Those of us in Tucson now can see the growth that has occurred since the '90s as well. My only complaint is that Mr. Magee, who passed away, is not around to photograph Tucson and produce an updated version of this book!
